

WOMEN FAIL TO GET HOGS OUT

After Telling City Fathers All Hogs in City Are Nuisance—City Council Session

Hogs in the city are a nuisance whether kept in lots 50 feet square or not, declared a number of ladies from Third street who appeared before the City Fathers at the regular monthly meeting of the City Council Thursday night.

The ladies didn't get an ordinance passed prohibiting the keeping of hogs in town, however, for Councilmen Robert Golden and John Mershon lead the fight against it and motion to pass the ordinance was not offered by any of the councilmen.

The ordinance originally sought to permit only hogs that were kept in a pen 50x50 feet. City Attorney Joe P. Chenault said that City Health Officer Dr. J. G. Bosley desired the ordinance adopted, as there was much complaint of the smell, and that many regarded them as a nuisance.

The ladies, led by Mrs. J. R. McKinney and Mrs. W. N. Kinser gave their emphatic approval to the statement that hogs in town are a nuisance, no matter how large the pen. Both ladies made strong statements to the councilmen, but they didn't get the ordinance over.

The ladies did not appear before the City Fathers, on the hog ordinance, however. They came to request that the council make good on a promise to improve Third street, which they said is in a fearful condition and that the dust is awful. Mr. J. R. McKinney spoke for the ladies also, and it was finally agreed that tarvia will be applied when the crew from the tarvia people comes to put it on the Big Hill pike for the state. County Engineer Baxter said he expects the work to begin there soon and that it would be a good idea for the city to get its tarvia work done then. Mr. Bax also told the city to get what rock it needs from the county quarry quickly. He said that the state crew will soon start to work on the Lexington pike; that the county is to furnish 40,000 tons of rock for that work, and after it gets busy there won't be much chance for the city to get any. Mayor Evans said that the county has treated the city mightily generously in the matter of rock.

The councilmen held a lengthy session. All were present except Councilman C. B. Terrill. Reports from city officials showed collections of $147 from Chief of Police Devore; imposition of $515 in fines and 60 days by Police Judge Murray Smith; expenditure of $365.10 on the streets by Commissioner Allman and collection of $130.01 in taxes by City Collector Dykes; all during the month of March.

Upon motion of Councilman O'Neil $100 was voted to the Associated Charities work led by Dr. Telford.

The breaking of the old spring through the asphalt paving on East Main was discussed. Mayor Evans said that the contractors, Lampton and Burke, were responsible and they will again be notified that, under their bond, they must make this good. Mr. O'Neil pointed out that leaky cars parking on east side of Second street are causing much damage to the street there. He thought cars should be compelled to park in the center of that street for awhile, to make the travel wear uniform all over the street. Signs notifying motorists where to park will be put up.

Mr. O'Neil presented a claim from Mrs. James Burnham for damage to her cistern, caused by blasting for the new street on West Main. It was pointed out that Contractor McLane who did the sewer work is responsible and her claim will be referred to him.

Necessity for completion of the sewers from the Million property and also between the railroad and Estill avenue, was brought up and the Sewer Committee was instructed to look after this.

Councilman Mershon presented an application from citizens of South Second street for oil on that street. The dust nuisance is awful along this street when the wind blows especially, and all hope that the city will arrange this relief at once.

The ladies' application for relief of the dusty conditions on Third street were then presented. Mrs. Kinser stated that someone is burning trash and debris near the corner of Third and Irvine streets and causing a smell all over the neighborhood, too.

Warfield Bennett, representing the Madison and Home Warehouses, asked the council to reduce the license tax of $250 on each house. He pointed out that each house has to pay eight separate taxes, and that the license tax against the warehouses in proportion to that paid by other businesses of the city was excessive and unreasonable. He said that neither warehouse made any money last year or this, and that both are in debt. He asserted that another season like last and this, and Richmond won't have any tobacco warehouses.

City Attorney Chenault said that it seemed that the warehousemen were late in coming in with their protest, as the year for which the license was due was almost up. He did not feel sure that the council had the right to rebate or lower the license fee for the past year.

City Clerk Blanton suggested that as the warehouses did not begin to do business until along in December, that perhaps they should be charged for only six or eight months license as they were idle the rest of the year.

After considerable discussion, it was decided to have City Attorney Chenault and Mr. Bennett consult and investigate as to what relief, if any, the city had the power to grant at this stage of the proceedings.

C. E. Galloway asked for a refund of license he had paid on behalf of C. S. Brent & Co., Paris produce buyers, whom he represented here. He said that he is not a retail dealer inasmuch as he buys only and ships away. An amendment to the license ordinance was read, however, which knocked out his contention, and no action was taken upon his request.

An ordinance was passed requiring several property owners on the north side of West Main street to construct concrete sidewalks in place of the old brick, which are worn out. The property owners are L. B. Weisenburgh, Mrs. Frances F. Forbes, C. C. Coy, H. H. Brock and Luther Haden.

After a long discussion on the hog ordinance proposition, which failed to give favor with the councilmen, the bills were audited and the session adjourned.

The ladies who appeared before the council and took much interest in its proceedings were Mesdames W. N. Kinser, J. R. McKinney, J. P. Rucker, Sanford Oldham, R. O. Lackey, and Miss Shugars.

NICHOLASVILLE

John Reynolds, aged 80 years, was found dead in bed Wednesday, at his home on Elizabeth street. He was in good health at the time of retiring Tuesday night. When members of the family endeavored to awaken him found he was dead. Mr. Reynolds is survived by a sister, Mrs. Hager, two daughters, Mrs. Sam Wiley, of Nicholasville; Mrs. Hamlet Jennings, of Garrard county; two sons, M. L. Reynolds, of Nicholasville, and N. E. Reynolds, of Lexington.

Miss Jessamine Mahin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Mahin, of the Keene neighborhood, was scalded about the body by overturning a pot of boiling coffee at her home. Miss Mahin is a teacher of the high school at Versailles. She will be confined to her home until her injuries are healed.

The first game of base ball of the season will be played here Sunday at Evans' field when the Nicholasville nine will cross bats with the Lexington reserves.

BAILEY-WHITE FEUD BREAKS OUT AGAIN

B. P. White, Who Left Mountains to Avoid It, Shot by Baileys in Knox County

(By Associated Press)

Barbourville, Ky., April 8.—No report was received today from the posse searching for John Bailey, Clay county feudist, who yesterday shot and killed Beverly White, of Versailles, at the depot here and who escaped from a deputy sheriff who was about to take the prisoner to Pineville for safekeeping.

A feud of long standing between the White and Bailey families of Clay and Knox counties, dormant six years, was resurrected early Thursday afternoon when B. P. White, 58 years old, a wealthy farmer, coal and timber operator, formerly of Clay county, was shot and killed at Heidrick Station a few miles from Barbourville, by John Bailey, of Clay county, says the Lexington Herald.

White was shot just as he alighted from a train of the Cumberland and Manchester railroad, which operates between Manchester and Barbourville, the county seat of Clay county, a distance of 23 miles.

Bailey came face to face with White as he alighted from the train. According to reports reaching Lexington, Bailey opened fire immediately. The only person who saw the entire act was a small boy who barely escaped being struck by the fire.

White fell, his body pierced by five bullets. He died almost instantly. He made no statement to those who, hearing the shots ring out, rushed to his side.

Following the shooting, Bailey accompanied by some of his friends, who were standing near by, seized a hand car from a railroad section crew and fled in the direction of Clay county.

A posse, the members of which were mostly from Barbourville, which arrived at Heidrick shortly after the flight of Bailey and his friends, commandeered a locomotive engine and gave chase.

Meager reports reaching Lexington last night, indicated that the pursuit had led into Clay county. Word also came from Barbourville that friends of both the White and Bailey factions were arming themselves to be prepared for any trouble that might arise.

The posse which is pursuing Bailey and his friends are armed with high-powered army rifles.

At last reports the posse was scouring the mountains in an effort to apprehend Bailey.

Last night three sons of the slain man and his widow, Mrs. Cassie White, 55 years old, who make their home in Woodford county, left Lexington for Barbourville to take charge of the body. The sons of Mr. White are S. T. W. L. and J. D. White, Jr.

The slain man, according to his sons, moved his home to Central Kentucky almost 25 years ago to escape any further conflict between himself and the members of the Bailey family. At that time the two families, both of which have large connections in the surrounding sections of Manchester and Barbourville, were on bad terms.

Bailey, who was arrested after the shooting, escaped from a deputy sheriff who was guarding him while awaiting orders to take the prisoner to Pineville for safekeeping.

The fugitive and a party of his friends forced a section crew to give up a handcar and escaped on this, abandoning it 12 miles from Barbourville and taking to the woods.

Shortly after the escape 12 deputy sheriffs, armed with repeating rifles, arrived to escort the prisoner to Pineville.

The officers gave chase on a locomotive and later were joined by friends of White.

In the meantime it has been reported that friends of the slayer are arming and it is feared that an outbreak between the two factions is imminent.

The families have been enemies for many years. The trouble began when two Whites, brothers of Beverly White, were killed by two brothers of John Bailey.

Additional apprehension is caused at Barbourville by the fact

MADISON HI WINS HIGH SCHOOL DEBATE

The Model High school went down in defeat Thursday night at the hands of the Madison High school. The contest was a debate held in the Normal chapel between the two schools. "Compulsory arbitration of labor disputes" was the subject debated. Model had the affirmative and Madison the negative. Madison, according to the decision of the judges, excelled in every department of the debate. They showed much superior preparation and their addresses were much more finished, the judges said.

Harold Gabby is a gifted speaker who is perfectly at home on the stage. His speech was filled with good argument and his rebuttal altogether escaped the average. Miss Edna Mullanix made a fine showing by her masterly arguments and her clear and distinct delivery. She also did well in rebuttal. Laion Wilson closed for the negative. His rebuttal was especially good. He showed readiness to answer the arguments of the opposing side. His rebuttal was really characteristic of a debate between much older heads.

The judges gave a unanimous decision to the negative. The judges were Prof. James Watt Raine and Prof. C. D. Lewis, of Berea College, and Rev. Frank N. Tindler, of Kirksville.

The Model team consisted of Leslie Evans, Jr., Henry Arnold and William Blanton. Each one acquitted himself well. The Madison team will now meet another winner in the Central Kentucky district with the hope of finally getting into the state tournament at Lexington.

GERMANS STILL COUNTING ON U. S.

(By Associated Press) Paris, April 8.—It is stated semi-officially today that fresh proposition is coming from the Germans on reparations. An unconfirmed report says they are making another effort to interest the United States. The present expectations, however, are that the Allies will issue an ultimatum to Germany on the expiration of the time limit for payment by Germany of twenty billion gold marks May 1st.

MISTOOK COPS FOR ROBBERS; ALL SHOT

(By Associated Press) Chicago, April 8.—Policemen John Tracey and Robert Wiksch were shot and are believed to be dying, and a third policeman John White, is slightly wounded, and Matthew Lalich, a steel worker, died early today, and two of his companions were wounded in a street fight in the South Chicago steel mill district. The steel workers, not understanding English, apparently mistook the policemen who were in plain clothes for robbers and opened fire. When their pistols were emptied all six had been struck by bullets.

That Levi Lee, a friend of the Bailey faction, is to be tried Monday on a charge of killing a member of the White family. It has been announced that a large number of deputy sheriffs will be sworn in for the trial.

Baileys Were in Court Here

Beverly and Jim Bailey, brothers of the slayer, were sentenced at the last term of the United States court in Richmond to serve three years in the federal penitentiary, Atlanta, in connection with a raid made by U. G. McFarland, chief prohibition agent, and his aides. They appealed the case.

Following the raid two years ago the officers were held up by half a dozen armed men, members of the Bailey family, and were driven from the vicinity.

TRIES TO LAY MURDERS ON NEGRO FARM BOSS

Georgia Farmer Declares His Innocence of Killing 11 Laborers Held in Peonage

Covington, Ga., April 8.—Presentation of evidence was completed and argument begun Thursday in the trial of John S. Williams, Jasper county plantation owner, who is charged with the murder of Lindsey Petersen, one of the 11 negro farm hands who are said to have met death while held in peonage on his place.

Williams, who took the stand asserted his "absolute innocence," was the sole witness for the defense.

Manning, negro, farm boss for 14 years on the Williams place, and self-confessed accomplice of the planter, was pointed by Williams as the man having a "probable motive" for the killings.

Charles C. King, pleading for Williams' acquittal, told the jury Manning, ignorant of the penalty for peonage, had become alarmed over the investigation and that the evidence indicated he was the only person who had a motive for the murders.

Mr. King asserted the defense expected to rely upon Williams' "alibi," which, he said, Williams had "established as far as possible" by describing how he was at home the night the three negroes were killed in this county, and asserted the state had offered no legal corroboration of the testimony of a self-confessed accomplice, as required by law.

Graham Wright, assistant attorney general, pointed to various testimony as corroboration and said the law left it to the jury to make final decisions on that question.

He termed Manning as incapable of planning and carrying out the crimes "under eyes of Williams and his family, and named Williams as the guilty man.

The defendant, accused by the state of "Georgia's most atrocious murders," was as cool as any of the spectators who packed the court house almost to suffocation to hear his story.

These were the first criminal charges of any kind ever filed against him, he declared, in his 54 years of life, and he claimed, proudly, that his four sons were among the first to answer the country's call in the world war.

He admitted he technically might have been guilty of peonage, as he had worked negroes who owed money to him.

These agents replied that the negroes on the place were among the "best fed and clothed" they had seen, he declared. If he, technically, were guilty of peonage, "most Georgia farmers also were," he added.

"I am absolutely innocent," he told the jury, in conclusion, as he reverted to the murder charge.

INVITED TO FOX HUNT IN GALLATIN

County Clerk J. W. Maupin has just received an invitation from his friend, Col. J. M. Branham, of Chicago, to attend a big birthday dinner in his honor at his plantation near Gallatin, Tenn., on May 24. Col. Branham, needless to say, is an enthusiastic fox hunter. There will be a lot of sport on the occasion of his birthday, and Mr. Maupin was told to bring along three or four of his best dogs with him to the celebration, including the famous dog Arch which has a nation-wide reputation. Of course Mr. Maupin will go if he can possibly get away from his official duties at that time. Col. Branham will probably be in Richmond before that time as he wants to look over some other dogs here. He is a prominent Chicago business man, being head of the firm of John M. Branham Company, publishers' representatives in the foreign advertising field.

MORE BRITISH LABOR DECIDES TO STRIKE

(By Associated Press)

London, April 8.—Leaders of the national unions of transport workers and railway workers today decided to strike in sympathy with the striking miners. This brings the entire power of the "triple alliance of labor" into the greatest industrial dispute in England for years.

Premier Lloyd-George in the House of Commons today said in view of the situation, the government proposed to appeal for volunteers for transportation and other essential service. He said a royal proclamation would call up army and navy reserves.

Meanwhile fresh efforts were made today to reopen negotiations with the miners for a strike settlement but failed, thereupon the railway men and transport workers fixed the time for their sympathy strike next Tuesday.

STANLEY'S FATHER DIES SUDDENLY

(By Associated Press)

Frankfort, Ky., April 8.—The funeral services will be held here tomorrow forenoon for Rev. Wm. Stanley, father of Senator Stanley, of Kentucky, who died suddenly Thursday afternoon at the age of 89. Senator Stanley left Frankfort a few hours previous for Washington, but a telegram intercepted him.

The Rev. Mr. Stanley had left an eventful life. He helped organize a company in the Confederate army, but refused a commission and enlisted as a private. In a short time, however, he was commissioned lieutenant and upon the death of the company commander in battle he was raised to the rank of captain.

He afterward served on the staff of General Albert Sydney Johnston. He attracted attention with a successful defense of a man court martialled for striking a superior officer and the Judge Advocate General of the Confederate army read the defense and summoned Captain Stanley to his staff.

Just before the close of Civil War, Captain Stanley went on a dangerous mission rounding up deserters in the wilds of Florida.

His first charge was Grassy Springs, Woodford county. He afterward held pastorates at Versailles, Harrodsburg, Hopkinsville, Nicholasville, Danville, Flemingsburg, East Aurora, N. Y., Glasgow, Campbellsville and Burksville. He retired from the active ministry a few years ago, and he and Mrs. Stanley had planned to celebrate their 55th wedding anniversary April 24.

They moved to Frankfort soon after their son was inaugurated as Governor.

The Rev. Mr. Stanley was a native of Nelson county. Besides Senator Stanley the surviving children are G. W. Stanley, of Covington; Mrs. T. S. Minnick, of Henderson, and Mrs. T. R. Welch, who resides in the state of Washington. His brother, J. A. Stanley, lives in Shelbyville.

FOX HOUNDS SELL HIGHER THAN MULES

Tennessee Sportsman Comes to Madison and Buys Eight of the Best Here

The biggest deal in Kentucky fox hounds recorded in a long time was consummated here Thursday, when J. H. Smith, Jr. of Fayetteville, Tenn., purchased eight of the best from old Madison county known the world over as the home of the real fox hound. The sale is reported to have represented almost $3,000. Mr. Smith bought what he wanted at a price set on the dogs by their owners, and he bought only the best as he said he wanted to "buy the kind that aren't usually sold," and the boys made him pay for them to get them.

Perhaps the best known hound he secured was Arch, a two-year-old male dog owned by Maupin Bros., of Richmond. Arch has a nation-wide reputation among fox hunters. Maupin Bros. also sold him the crack young bitch, Sissy. The price Mr. Smith paid for this splendid pair of dogs was not made public by either side, but it is rumored to have been right around $650.

Jake Hackett, of this city, also sold the Tennesseean a crack pair in Valve and Lot, both two-year-olds, and it is said that Mr. Hackett received right around $600 for them.

From James Kanatzar, of this city, Mr. Smith bought one dog, at a big price, while from Woods Walker, the dean of fox hunters of the Paint Lick section, the Southern sportsman purchased three and it is reported on good authority that he paid Mr. Walker a cool $1,000 for the three.

Mr. Smith only spent a few days here. He went out with the boys several nights and saw their prize dogs run, and then calmly told them to name their figures, and when they did, they sold the dogs.

PAINT LICK BALL PLAYERS READY

A fan writes the following about base ball prospects at Paint Lick:

With the return of spring weather, Paint Lick High School base ball athletes are on the job in full force and are snapping the ball over the diamond in mid-season form, awaiting the opening game.

Beazley, southpaw par excellence, or Kuhlman, the pitching staff's right winged mainstay, is slated to twirl the opener. The rest of the line-up is as yet incomplete, but probably will be as follows:

Ward, catcher; "Speedy" Beazley, first base; Meadows, second base; Davis, short stop; Wallace, third base; and the outfielders will be chosen from the following: Cornett, Ralston, Smith and Estridge.

In the matter of hitting, the team is well above par and none of the pitchers seem able to stay their wicked onslaught with the willow. It's going to be a fine team from all indications and Coach "Speedy" Beazley expects the nine to outshine any High School team in Central Kentucky.

For instance "Speedy" Beazley at first has few equals on any high school team and Davis at short, very seldom boots a grounder. Wallace at third is a star of the first magnitude, and Ward behind the bat, is all class. Cornett in the outfield, has pulled down many a hard one from out of the ozone and all the others are showing up almost as well.
